OPERATION FEED BACK

For many Veterans in Northern Nevada, the economic times have become difficult, and have left many without sufficient resources to meet their food needs. “Operation Feed Back” has been started by Hands of Hope Food Bank to help alleviate this situation. The program is open to Veterans, Active Duty, Guard and Reserve plus their immediate families. One of the unique aspects of this program is that it is run and staffed by the same group of people that it serves. Every Tuesday night from 6:30 to 8:00, you will find Veterans from most branches serving their brothers and sisters, and family’s, groceries.

This is not a sit down meal, but an opportunity to load up on bread, fresh fruit and vegetables, dairy, protein and other staples. For most of the participants that come to the event, it is a major change from most food pantries where they are given canned food and dry goods. Here they are treated with respect, dignity and understanding, because those who are serving them have been in their shoes.

Another unique aspect of Operation Feed Back is that all funding for it comes from a Shared Maintenance Fee of $5 per family that participants pay when they arrive. This fee covers the operational cost of the facility, equipment and the food that is distributed. This is definitely NOT another entitlement program supported by tax dollars. For Veterans that may not have the $5 on their first visit, it is very likely that one of the other Vets will cover them.
